

CLEAR YOUR WAY!

Ellen Faye
Organizing Coach and
Certified Professional Organizer®

Jackie's Testimonial in Full

Ellen Faye has been a tremendous asset to me and my firm. Like many creative types, I'm very strong in the creative realm and weak in my organizational and administrative skills. It's the classic right brain vs. left brain scenario. I'm very successful at what I do and am a high achiever, but struggle with organizing my busy office and life. In addition to running a PR firm, I have a special needs teenager and head up a growing parent support group.

Ellen is incredibly skilled at treating her clients with the utmost respect and patience. Many of us disorganized types are embarrassed for others to see our "messes." Ellen knows how to make this a very comfortable process. She leverages my strengths and minimizes my weaknesses. As both a business coach and professional organizer, Ellen has taught me new ways to approach my mountains of paperwork, my scheduling challenges, my time management issues, my business decisions and so much more. She works with each client as a unique individual. It's not a one-size-fits-all approach.

I couldn't recommend her more highly. Like a magician, she has more tricks and tools up her sleeve, than anyone I've ever seen. She has helped me considerably both personally and professionally and is a true delight to work with. She has set me up with my PDA, with other computer and non-computer tools, and has helped me complete important personal and professional projects. Every session with her is incredibly productive, with each minute of her time oriented towards my success. Ellen is a treasure.
